HOME INVENTORY LIST

Whether you own your own home or rent, you should have adequate coverage to protect yourself and your items in case of a loss such as fire, theft, flood, etc. The best way to avoid an issue is to create a home inventory list that accurately shows your home's contents. This will allow your expert Morison Insurance broker to easily confirm your home's inventory if a claim is required. By completing this list, you can feel comfortable knowing that you have adequate documentation at the ready.

HOME INVENTORY TIP: THE MORE INFORMATION, THE BETTER

Every little bit helps, so get as much information as possible for each possession. Each piece of information you collect will make it that much easier to get through a disaster and its aftermath to the point where your home and belongings are restored with financial support from your insurance provider.

HOME INVENTORY TIP: KEEP YOUR DOCUMENT IN A SAFE PLACE

Some people prefer to keep a physical inventory count sheet with a good old-fashioned pen and paper while others turn to digital home inventory methods. Whichever way you prefer, make sure that you have at least one physical and one digital copy readily available. The best course of action is to have multiple copies of your list stored both in hard copy form and on a data cloud.

HOME INVENTORY TIP: DON'T SKIP ANY ITEMS

While some individuals may feel that the items that they own may not be of great value, the quantity of items is also important. You should be documenting all items, no matter whether low or high value. Remember that one $100 item is the same as five $20 items.

HOME INVENTORY TIP: KEEP DOCUMENT UPDATED

You'll want to update your home inventory when you acquire a new item or items that significantly change the overall valuation of your home's contents. You don't need to update it every time you go shopping, but significant purchases warrant an update.
